Study Calls Apathy, Substance Abuse Town's Problems

By Lewis C. Howe

Substance abuse is a continuing problem in the town of Andover, with residential apathy and poor parental guidance two contributing factors.

"There is a perceived moral vacuum in Andover" said Jim Byrne of Advocates for Human Potential, who recently completed a study of "Substance Abuse and Other Social Issues" in town.

Byrne, along with representatives of the Department of Community Services and the Andover public schools, presented the study for review by the Board of Selectmen Monday night.

For the report, Byrne and his colleagues interviewed 30 local residents and business people, whom he said were "selected to help us gain a cross-section of the community." The study found "there is concern about how well parents raise their kids," Byrne remarked, and whether Andover parents are too permissive.

The consultant stated "no other single issue" approaches drug abuse as a community concern, but the community "is not motivated" to combat the problem. One reason for this, Byrne continued, is that a "sense of community" does not exist in Andover.

"Folks in Andover don't feel like part of a community," said Byrne. "There's not a lot of commitment here. Many residents mentioned how it's a struggle just to get a quorum at town meeting."

Andover's high socio-economic status results in an emphasis on materialism that "has more of an impact here than in other communities." While some substance abuse counseling programs exist in the schools and in the community, Byrne commented "there is a lot yet to be done."

Gerald Silverman, selectman chairman, believed "parent involvement does seem to be missing" in combatting drugs. "There seems to be an attitude the parents have about their kids that 'as long as you're not bothering me and not getting in trouble, it's okay.'"

Silverman said he was disturbed by repeated references to "apathy" in the report. "With nothing serious happening to anyone, nothing is done about it, until, God forbid, something does happen. Then, everyone goes through a cycle where they take action."

The selectman likened the situation to the issue of drunk driving. "Not much gets said until a kid gets killed," he said. "Then the issue comes back."

Parents also tend to take less active interest in their children's activities once they reach high school, Silverman noted. "For 15 to 18-year-olds, the need for parental involvement is highest, but that's when it isn't there. If you go to PTO meetings at the elementary level, the place is always packed, but it slacks off as the kids get older."

Selectman Charles Wesson termed substance abuse "the biggest issue I've come in contact with" since serving as a town official. "I'd like to see us start to do something on this," he added, "it's one of the most important things we as parents can do."

Library Moves Next Week

By Dorothy M. Sherrerd
Community Services Librarian

After several years of construction—three to be exact—the latest addition to Memorial Hall Library will be opening next week. Staff and patrons alike have suffered through cramped conditions, lack of shelf space and limited services for some time. I hate to report that conditions will not significantly improve with this move.

Until the reading room, circulation services, magazines and records can be returned to the old building after its renovation, everything has to be cramped into the new wing. Audio-visual equipment will temporarily be unavailable for patron borrowing, chairs and tables for studying will be scarce and new locations for everything, from non-fiction to microfiche, will undoubtedly cause staff and patron frustration.

The picture is not all black, however. The new building is beautiful, modern, clean, functional, accessible, with adjacent parking and, in time, will be a model library. We implore you to bear with us until the whole project is complete, hopefully in six to eight months.

All access to the library when it re-opens will be through the new entrance at the rear off Essex Street. Friends of the Library will be on hand for a few weeks to serve as guides in the new building. And, as always, the staff will continue to serve our patrons to the best of our abilities.

Suffolk Alumni Award

David H. Weener (right) of Andover, president of Nucon Capital Corporation of Boston, was honored with the Outstanding Alumni Award by the Suffolk University MBA/MPA Alumni Association at a reception in honor of the 50th anniversary of Suffolk University's School of Management held recently at the Beacon Hill campus. Weener received his master in business administration degree from Suffolk in 1975. He is shown receiving his award from Lawrence J. Morency (left), president of the MBA/MPA Alumni Association, and Dr. Ronald E. Sundberg, associate dean of Suffolk's School of Management.

Participates In Meeting

Matthew Cushing Jr., M.D., an internist and medical director of SuburbanHealthcare Center in Andover and president of the Massachusetts Society of Internal Medicine, participated as a delegate to the 31st annual meeting of the American Society of Internal Medicine (ASIM) in Washington, D.C. October 14-18. ASIM, a national medical specialty society representing more than 20,000 internists nationwide, was founded in 1956 to promote the optimal delivery of cost-effective, high-quality medical care. Internists (doctors of internal medicine) are the major providers of comprehensive, continuing medical care in the United States.

The 130-member House of Delegates considered and took action on more than 50 reports and resolutions which concerned such issues as mandatory AIDS testing and reporting of results, physicians' responsibility to treat AIDS patients, the plight of the medically uninsured/underinsured worker, financing care for the medically indigent, long-term care in hospitals, nursing homes and hospices, health insurance coverage for financially catastrophic illnesses, smoking on airplanes and other public places and whether or not physicians should dispense drugs from their offices. Delegates attended several continuing medical education programs and workshops to update their knowledge and upgrade their skills in order to provide first-rate, cost-effective care to their patients.

Library To Close Next Week

Memorial Hall Library starts moving into its new addition on Monday, Nov. 16. It is expected to be closed for at least three days while movers move the entire collection of books, records, etc. and all offices. Patrons and students are encouraged to visit the library this weekend to obtain all materials needed for the next week.

Selectmen Approve Permits

The selectmen Monday night gave approval for the Bay State Gas Company to excavate in several town streets. Work will be done along Ivy Lane, Brookfield Road, Harding St., Burnham Road, Brady Loop, Haverhill St., Oriole Drive, Wethersfield Drive, Argilla Road, and Lucerne Drive for the purpose of installing gas services.

The selectmen granted permission to the Andover Crafts Guild to conduct its annual Crafts-in-the-Park festival on May 8, 1988 in The Park.

Acting in their role as Sewer Commissioners, the selectmen approved two connections to the town's sanitary sewer system. The first is for the new Post Office on Stevens St., and the second for dormitories at Merrimack College.

Industrial Review Tuesday

A special Planning Board forum on Industrial Review zoning will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 in the West Junior High School auditorium. The Board is proposing to change parts

Special Needs Committee To Meet

Andover parents of children with special needs and others interested in special education are invited to the next meeting of the Special Education Parents Advisory Committee Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the Resource Room on the third floor of the school administration building. There will be a brief business meeting, including a discussion of the 1988-89 annual plan, which will be followed by a get-acquainted hour. Information about resources and services available for parents will be shared.

Harvest Festival At Sanborn

November 16-20 will be a week of sharing and caring at Sanborn School. Children bring in canned and baked goods and plants. The food is packed in decorated boxes and distributed by the sixth graders to the elderly of the town. A Harvest Festival assembly is planned on November 19 at 9:45 a.m.

Women In Courts Panel Topic

Planning tonight's public meeting at Christ Church Parish Hall are, left to right, Cathleen Fenton of 50 Salem St., chairman Susan Broude of 26 Orchard Crossing and Vicki Novick of 15 Blueberry Hill Road, women's issues committee members of the League of Women Voters of Andover.

The League of Women Voters of Andover women's issues committee will bring together court officials, women and men attorneys, a victim witness advocate and a local member of the gender bias commission for a public panel discussion tonight, "Empowering Women in the Courts," in Christ Church Parish Hall at 7:30 p.m. "Maybe you wonder why we are focusing on the question of gender bias in the courts in our public forum tonight," offers Susan Broude.

"Most victims are female, whether they are women or children," she points out. "Yet many court officials say there's a real issue of credibility when the client or alleged victim is a woman or a child. The state has funded a commission on gender bias in the courts, with four subcommittees to investigate it."

"We will hear also about the impact of women as professionals in the court. Is there a difference and what is the difference when the lawyer or the judge is a woman? We have a panel that is diverse in professional experience and even gender to speak to us tonight. We welcome everybody. The issues in those cases we read about every day affect all of us, whether they are headline controversies about visitation by an alleged child-abusive parent or more mundane issues of child support or sex discrimination."

Panelist will be Atty. Constance Novick Bendetson of Weston; the law firm of Edward Novick of Lowell in Middlesex County; Atty. Richard Heller, senior partner of Heller, Borreliz & Katz of Boston, known for sex discrimination cases; Patty McNamara, chief of the victim witness service bureau for Middlesex County; Mary De Francisco, assistant registrar of courts for Essex County.

and Susan Shaer of Andover, a member of the Governor's Commission on Gender Bias in the Courts.

Newcomers are welcome at the next women's issues committee meeting Thursday, Dec. 3, at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Kathleen Fenton, 50 Salem St. For further information, contact Broude, Orchard Crossing.

LGH To Unveil Mobile MRI Unit

Lawrence General Hospital will hold an open house for a new, mobile magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) unit on Tuesday, Nov. 17, from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Greater Lawrence and other Merrimack Valley residents are invited to view the 48-foot long mobile MRI unit, which will be parked in front of the LGH building at the intersection of Marston and General Streets in Lawrence. Tours, informative materials and refreshments will be provided.

Lawrence General Hospital has joined with five other Merrimack Valley hospitals—Amesbury Hospital, Anna Jaques Hospital, Hale Hospital, Lowell General Hospital and St. John's Hospital—to provide magnetic resonance imaging services to the 37 communities in this region. The hospitals have formed Merrimack Valley Health Services, Inc. (MVHS) and purchased a mobile MRI unit that will travel to five of the six hospitals weekly.

"MRI is one of today's most advanced and sophisticated technologies, yet is too expensive for most hospitals to afford individually," explains Thomas F. Hennessey, president of Lawrence General Hospital. "The consortium approach is the creative solution to the problem of multiple hospital access to this state-of-the-art diagnostic technology."

The mobile MRI unit is housed in a trailer that can be moved from hospital to hospital and set up adjacent to each facility. The MRI utilizes a powerful magnetic field, radio wave pulses and computer analysis to produce high contrast, high resolution images of the body's organs and tissues. Unlike many other diagnostic technologies, MRI is non-invasive, does not use radiation or injected allergenic dyes and poses no known health hazard for the patient.

Alan Pratt, M.D., LGH director of radiology, says the MRI unit is an important new addition to hospital services. "The beauty of the MRI is that it can 'see' around bones and can give us finely detailed views of soft tissue throughout the body. Because the energy source is magnetic, it can be used repeatedly, not only for first diagnosis, but also for monitoring progress."

The MVHS is currently the only MRI service in the Merrimack Valley approved by the state of Massachusetts. Patients may be referred for MRI examinations by their physicians.

Symposium At Historical Society

By Virginia Lopez Begg

The Andover Historical Society will present an all-day symposium, "Material Culture and Society in New England Villages, 1800-1850," on Tuesday, Nov. 17, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Amos Blanchard House, the society's Main Street headquarters.

The event is the first in a series of three symposia. Each will focus on different aspects of the many changes which took place in New England life during the period after the revolution and before the civil war. The series is funded by the Stevens Foundation of North Andover. Advance registration, which includes lunch, is required.

The first symposium will highlight two topics, material culture and society. Material culture is simply the study of the objects people used, from their houses and fences right down to their toothbrushes. The topic of society refers to the people themselves. Where did they live? What did they do for a living? If they moved or changed occupations, why did they do so? The discussion of both topics will center on small towns in New England like Andover.

Lectures on these two topics will be presented by Dr. Patricia Trainor O'Malley, associate professor of history at Bradford College, and Dr. Alan Taylor, professor of history at Boston University. After coffee and welcoming remarks by Andover Historical Society President Karen Herman, Taylor will speak on Society in New England Villages. A panel discussion, inviting audience participation, will follow. The panel will be moderated by the society's curator of education, Barbara Thibault, and two members of its interpretation committee.

After lunch, a similar format will be followed with O'Malley discussing material culture and a panel composed of Thibault and two members of the collections committee. An optional tour of the Amos Blanchard House will conclude the day.

The next two symposia will examine New England towns like Andover before and after the Industrial Revolution and new ways of thinking about religion and sex roles which come about in the period 1800-1850. These events are planned for January 23 and March 3, 1988.

The Andover Historical Society, accredited by the American Association of Museums, is a valuable resource center for local history in this area. The society's facilities include a house museum, a barn museum and an extensive research library. This series of symposia is another effort by the society to serve members of the public interested in local history, from the professional to those who are just getting started in learning about the historic area in which we live.

James Fisk

Professor Has Book Published

James Fisk of Andover, professor in the department of electronic technology at Northern Essex Community College, is the author of "Fundamentals of Circuit Analysis with Application to Electronics" recently published by MacMillan Publishing Co. of New York and Collier MacMillan Publishers of London.

This textbook and lab manual is being used this semester in classrooms across the country as well as internationally.

Fisk decided to write the book after experiencing frustrations with the textbooks available in circuit analysis. "I felt that they left so much unsaid and took routes that were not best for the students," he says.

The book took seven years to write, including a semester sabbatical in 1984.

Fisk received his B.S. from the University of Illinois and his M.Ed. from Salem State College. He has taught at Northern Essex for 20 years.

Poetry Award For Rugo

In the first project of its kind in the country, Andover resident Michael Rugo has received honorable mention in a statewide competition sponsored by the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) to elect 18 original poems and prose works which will be inscribed in granite and installed in the nine stations of the new Orange Line.

The winning authors and those receiving honorable mention were announced by MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary, following a selection process that involved literary experts and Southwest Corridor community residents.

The literary review panel consisted of poet Rafiki Rene Franklin, poet and Bentley College writer-in-residence Ruth Lepson, literary agent Richard P. McDonough, poet and photographer Jacqueline L. McRath, novelist and Simmons College English professor Lowry Cheng-Wu Pei, Emerson College English professor James Randall and poet and writer Luis Alberto Urrea.

As part of the project, which has been coordinated by award-winning Boston poet and author Sam Cornish, the MBTA is sponsoring poetry workshops, beginning in November at the Hawthorne Youth and Community Center in Highland Park, Roxbury.

The MBTA's literature project is one of three community-based educational art programs included in "Arts in Transit." These programs, as well as the permanent art projects for the new Orange Line stations, are designed to highlight the history and diversity of individual neighborhoods along the corridor.

"Arts in Transit: the Southwest Corridor" is part of an ongoing MBTA program to incorporate works of art into new construction and remodeled facilities. To date, the MBTA has commissioned more than 50 permanent art works and educational art projects.

Greater Lawrence Rotary Plans Fundraising Event

The Greater Lawrence Rotary Club has announced plans for a major fundraising event.

The club will sponsor the Joseph A. Torrasi Testimonial Dinner at the Sheraton Rolling Green in Andover on November 19 at 6:30 p.m. The program, presented in a "This is Your Life," format, will honor a distinguished Lawrence citizen while raising money for PolioPlus, the Rotary International's program to immunize all the children in the world against polio. Rotary International has a $120 million goal.

Club President Charles J. Caperonis named Glen A. Grubbs chairman of the PolioPlus committee earlier this year. Other members are William T. Novelline, Jr., Abraham Beshara, John Collins, Philip Defusco, Richard Lentini, John F. Sweeney, Alan Shafer and Tom O'Leary.

Rotary is in partnership with UNICEF and the World Health Organization and supports WHO's goal of conquering six dreaded childhood diseases that can be prevented by vaccination: polio, measles, tuberculosis, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough) and tetanus.

While polio has been virtually eliminated in industrialized countries, it remains a serious health threat in the developing nations, Caperonis said. It is a special danger to children under three years old.

By November 1, the Rotary Foundation of Rotary International had made grants totalling $60,000,000 for polio immunization projects in 54 countries. When these are completed (most projects last five years), a total of 252,015,000 children will have been protected from polio. That will be only a little more than half of the 500 million children the PolioPlus program is targeted to reach, so there is still much to be done, Grubbs said. Its ultimate goal is eradication of polio worldwide.

Joseph A. Torrasi has been a member of the Greater Lawrence Rotary Club for nearly 50 years and has served on various committees, as club president and, in 1958, as area district governor.

He has been director of the Greater Lawrence United Fund and the Atlantic Cooperative Bank, trustee of the Broadway Savings Bank and past president of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce and the Bon Secours Guild.

His honors include being inducted in the boys' Club Hall of Fame in 1982 and named a Knight of Malta by Pope Paul VI, the highest honor the pope can confer on a Catholic layman.

Tickets may be purchased by contacting Jack Sweeney or Bill Novelline.

Open House

Open House will be held at the Somerville Hospital School of Nursing, 125 Lowell St., Somerville, on Wednesday, Dec. 2, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. for people interested in a career as a professional registered nurse.

The School of Nursing is a National League for Nursing accredited program leading to a diploma in nursing. The program is two academic years in length for full-time studies. Graduates are eligible to write the State Board examination for licensure as a registered nurse.

At The Ball

They turned out in numbers and formal attire Friday.

It was the 35th Andona Society Ball, held at the Sheraton Rolling Green by the group that raises money for scholarships and athletics programs for children.

Music was provided by Double Vision, as it has been for the past seven years, and everyone took to the dance floor for the festive occasion.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

A bath is an important part of the routine, but you needn't bathe the baby every day. It's strictly an individual and cultural matter. American babies, for instance, are bathed twice as often as European babies, without any difference in the health of either group. In a warm climate, you may wish to give a bath daily, even sponging the baby off every few hours during hot summer months. In winter, cut back to a bath every other day or three times a week, because indoor heat lowers humidity and dries out the baby's skin. Many babies enjoy their baths immediately. But others find bathing traumatic. Introduce these reluctant bathers to the experience gradually.

Is there a baby due in your family or one already living there? Come to TINY TOTLAND where you will find a complete selection of furniture, carriages, mattresses, wall decor, lamps, accessories and toys. We have toys for all ages... "heaven to seven". Open 9-5:30. M. & Th. 9-9. Come to TINY TOTLAND, 1111 Elm St., Manchester, N.H. Tel. 1-603-623-6171. "Where Quality Costs You Less."

Warren Five Acquires

Pioneer Andover Deposits

Stephen F. O'Sullivan, chairman of the board, president and chief executive officer of Warren Five Cents Savings Bank (NASDAQ-WFCS), and Richard E. Bolton, chairman of the board, president and chief executive officer of Pioneer Financial, a Cooperative Bank, have announced that Warren Five has entered into an agreement to purchase the deposits of Pioneer's Andover branch office. These deposits, totalling approximately $15 million, will be serviced at Warren Five's new Andover Center branch office which opened October 19. Pioneer will close its Andover office to consolidate its operations, reduce its overhead in its retail banking system and further increase profitability.

O'Sullivan said, "We are pleased to have this opportunity to serve the depositors of the Andover community and look forward to continuing the excellent tradition of service established by Pioneer and its staff. Our Andover Center office has just opened and these accounts will assist us in strengthening our ties with our new customers in this area."

ers in this area."

Bolton added, "We have had a positive relationship with our Andover customers since our branch opened in 1977. I am confident that Warren Five, with its excellent staff and commitment to service, will serve Pioneer's depositors well."

O'Sullivan and Bolton indicated that the purchase of deposits would be finalized within the next few months subject to regulatory approval and that the transfer of accounts would be accomplished with no interruption of service to the depositors.

Warren Five Cents Savings Bank is a $322 million savings bank headquartered in Peabody and operating four branch offices and a loan center in Peabody and a branch office and loan center in Andover. Deposits are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) and the Deposit Insurance Fund of Massachusetts (DIFM).

Software Company Doubles Space At Riverwalk

Boston Business Computing, a specialized software manufacturer, will occupy 7,000 sq.ft. of prime office space at the Riverwalk Business Center with the signing of a new lease that increases the company's operation by an additional 3,300 sq.ft.

"Boston Business Computing's expansion is typical of start-up firms located here who have found Riverwalk's location, environment and flexibility for future growth opportunities a perfect match for their needs," said Daniel Bumagin, director of marketing for the Riverwalk Business Center.

Riverwalk, a seven-building, 1,400,000-sq.ft., state-of-the-art renovation of a classic riverfront property, offers prime office, R&D and manufacturing space, designed to meet individual tenant needs. Upon completion of the project in 1989, Riverwalk will feature a first-class, full-service hotel with conference facilities and retail complex.

Bank Forms Holding Company

Effective November 2, Andover Savings Bank (NASDAQ:ANDB) is operating as a wholly-owned subsidiary of its newly-formed bank holding company, Andover Bancorp, Inc. The holding company was formed pursuant to the plan of reorganization which was approved by the bank's shareholders at the annual meeting on April 23, 1987. All of the outstanding shares of common stock of Andover Savings Bank now represent an equal number of shares of Andover Bancorp, Inc.

Robert M. Henderson, president and chief executive officer, commented, "The formation of Andover Bancorp will provide management with the flexibility necessary to ensure that the bank remains competitively positioned for future growth and to respond to the challenges of the evolving banking environment."

The bank recently announced a dividend increase of 20 percent over its last quarter dividend payout. Shareholders of record of Andover Bancorp, as of November 13, will receive a cash dividend of 18 cents per share payable December 10.

Andover Savings Bank is a Massachusetts chartered savings bank organized in 1834 and headquartered in Andover. The bank also operates branch banking offices in West Andover, Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Tewksbury. Andover Savings Bank currently has assets in excess of $600 million.

Andover Resident Honored

with some of the company's major clients. Her excellent performance, dependability and flexibility in accepting a variety of temporary assignments have contributed to her selection as "Temp of the Month."

Office Specialists is a temporary employment service with 21 locations throughout Massachusetts, southern New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

Open Mike Continues

Rembrandt's Restaurant, 18 Elm St., Andover, is hosting Open Mike Night on Wednesdays from 9 p.m. to 12 p.m.

Originally conceived by manager Alicia Parsons and run by musician Gerry Skinder, Open Mike Night has been enjoyed by customers and a variety of performers for the past four weeks. The music has been surprisingly varied. Tim Lynch, a private investigator residing in Tewksbury, was one of Rembrandt's first contributors as he sang and played selections of 60's and 70's music. Jane Melcher, also of Tewksbury, has been a regular and performs country standards as well as her own music. A highlight of a recent evening occurred when Jean Boyen, a professional musician from Andover, teamed with Jane producing a blend so good they surprised themselves. Even Rembrandt chef Tom Whipple couldn't resist the lure of the stage and produced a comedy routine so funny few kept a straight face.

There have been many talented performers since Open Mike began and many more are scheduled for the coming weeks. Some have been booked to appear at Rembrandt's, some have come just for the joy of performing.

The Y's Way to Physical Fitness is the YMCA national program designed to improve cardiovascular and muscular fitness.

Adult Program Director Paul King says that the class is structured so that all levels may participate and benefit. Class format includes walking, jogging, aerobic dance combinations, mat work for abdominals and legs and a cool down.

All classes are taught by trained YMCA instructors. Classes begin Friday, Nov. 30, and are on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 6:15 a.m. to 7:15 a.m. or 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

All new entrants must have a fitness evaluation. Professional YMCA staff members will administer tests which determine personal level of muscle strength, joint flexibility, body composition and cardiovascular endurance. A private consultation of results is included. Basic principles of exercise are discussed along with directions on how to reach personal goals.

For further information, call the "Y," 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

What's in a name?

"The name Arlington Trust Company means peace of mind for us."

The Louis Tisbert family has been banking with Arlington Trust Company for over 35 years, so it was only natural that they came to us for financial backing when they started L. Tisbert Masonry Inc. 27 years ago.

"The name Arlington Trust Company means peace of mind for us," says Claire Tisbert. "Whenever the emergencies come, they're always there to see us through. It gives us a real sense of security to know that if a check we're counting on doesn't come in and we have 30 or 40 men waiting to be paid, we can pick up the phone and call Don Schroeder at the bank and he'll have the payroll money waiting for us with Eileen Zuppardi at the Shawsheen branch."

Arlington Trust Company has been serving the banking needs of Greater Lawrence since we opened our first office on Essex Street nearly 100 years ago. Today, with 21 full-service offices located throughout northeastern Massachusetts, there's one in a neighborhood near you.

Western Roundup

By Ellen Cohen

West Junior High School is off to a good start. Student government elections were held at the end of September. The results were Matt Perry, president; Ryan Kelly, treasurer; Ellen Cohen, secretary; Natalie Dowell, ninth grade vice president; Nicole Quinlan, eighth grade vice president; Matt Reghitto, seventh grade vice president. They are working with advisors Miss Humlak, Mr. Darrin and Mr. Maglio to make this year a memorable one.

Many additions to the school have been made for the benefit of the students. The salad bar and juice machine have made a big hit and the new systems in the computer room have been very useful.

The seventh grade class is attending an educational program dealing with science and nature. It is called Thompson Island and is in Boston harbor.

West Junior High School sports have done very well this season. The girls' soccer team ended with a record of 5-5-0. Heather Bryce and Patti Murphy were co-captains. The boys' soccer team finished with a record of 6-7-1. Brad Cronin and Peter Arthur were co-captains. The field hockey team ended with a 5-7-0 record. Amy Burnham and Grace Perry were co-captains. The football team is now standing with a record of 4-3-0. Will Lowry, Joe Iarrobino and Brett Hammond were co-captains. There were also alternating captains at each game. Kelly Mickell, Tara Cooney, Kristine O'Sullivan and Natalie Dowell are team managers. Congratulations to the Andover High School swim team for winning the MVC championships. Ninth grade girls swimming on the team were Allyson Bates, Eliza Tilghman, Kristen Hubbell and Ellen Cohen.

The intramural program gets off the ground next week on the return of the seventh graders. It will start with touch football and give these students something to do after school if they are not involved in outside activities.

A number of ninth graders have taken part in a program in which they attend a senior center for two weeks and help out. Their work is greatly appreciated.

Heart Group To Launch Campaign

Recipients will be Joseph Ciolino of Gloucester for campaign achievement; the Building Center, Charles Heberle, Gloucester; Masconomet Regional High School, Richard Craig, Topsfield, for the phone-a-thon.

Other recipients will be NYNEX of Lynn, David Wibbelsman of Lynn for Hearts and Flowers Day; Ronald Cavallero, Swampscott and family, telephone campaign and the Bagnell School, Groveland, Donald Argyrople, who directed the Jump Rope for Heart program.

Presentations will be made by Dr. Lincoln Pinsky, chief cardiologist, Lowell General Hospital. John L. Good III, chairman of the Heart Executive Committee and vice president of community relations and development, Beverly Hospital, is master of ceremonies.

Overseas Christmas Gifts Should Be Mailed Soon

Christmas may seem like a long way off, but now's the time to plan for holiday mailings overseas, especially if you have relatives in the armed services stationed in foreign countries.

November is the month when most parcels shipped via Parcel Airlift Mail (PAL) should be sent. PAL packages are airlifted domestically to a gateway facility, then airlifted on a space available basis from the gateway to the APO (Army or Air Force Post Office).

Packages up to 30 pounds and 60 inches in combined length and girth may be sent by PAL. Mailers pay the regular third- or fourth-class parcel post rate, based on weight, to the U.S. exit port or from the port of entry plus a fee for air service. The air service fee is 30 cents for parcels weighing two pounds or less; 60 cents for up to three pounds; 90 cents for up to four pounds and $1.20 for up to 30 pounds.

Another option for military parcels mailed in November is Space Available Main (SAM). Items shipped by SAM are transported by land in the continental United States and then flown overseas on a space available basis. Packages weighing 15 pounds or less and not exceeding 60 inches in combined length and girth may be sent by SAM for regular parcel post rates to the United States exit port.

For later mailing of holiday messages and parcels to military bases overseas, the Postal Service now offers Express Mail Military Service to more than 200 APO/FPO military addresses. The same rates as domestic Express Mail Service apply for this two-day service—$10.75 for up to two pounds and $12.85 for more than two pounds and up to five pounds. The weight limit is 70 pounds. This new service is available at post offices in the Greater Boston area.

Post offices have a complete list of suggested mailing rates, date information and mailing options that customers can consult to ensure their parcels and cards arrive in time for Christmas.

AMC Walk Sunday In Stoneham

The Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club will conduct a hike through the Middlesex Fells Woods in Stoneham on Sunday, Nov. 15. Meet at 1:30 p.m. in the parking lot of the Stone Zoo in Stoneham. All the committee's local walks are free and open to the public. Families are encouraged to take part. For more information, call leader Fred Wallace.

The committee is organizing a day trip to the Quabbin Reservoir area in north central Massachusetts for a hiking excursion. The trip is free and open to the public, but registration in advance is required. Call leader Dave Milot.

Families are encouraged to take part. Meet in the South Church parking lot on Central Street in Andover for a departure time of 9 a.m. The drive is two hours each way and the hike will last about three hours, so bring a lunch. The group will be back in Andover at about 6 p.m.

Choose a simple IRA now, and save the hard decisions for later.

Investing for retirement should be easy, profitable, and flexible. And that's why you should look into the new 3-year IRA from Wakefield Savings Bank.

Once you've gotten started, you can add to it whenever you like. You can even consolidate other IRA's into it. (We'll be happy to transfer IRA's from other institutions into it for you.) And the interest it pays will always be 1/4% over the 3-year U.S. Treasury rate, adjusted each month. That way, no matter what happens to interest rates, you'll always be earning a competitive yield.

So make planning for retirement as simple as it can be with a 3-year variable rate IRA from Wakefield Savings Bank. It's the kind of investment that could leave you in an enviable position.

Early withdrawal subject to penalty.

Andover Paper Goes Overseas

By Virginia Cole

Recycled paper put out in front of your house on your regular trash day may come back to your house in the form of a box containing an imported vase from Japan.

Right now the hottest overseas markets for recycled paper are Japan, Korea, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Mexico. All these places make packaging from our paper and then, of course, send sneakers, computers, clothes and artifacts back to us, so packaged.

To follow Andover's paper from its source by your driveway could be that exotic or could be a journey only around Massachusetts. To begin: our contractor, Graham-Bernier, picks up the paper and takes it either to Salem to North Shore Recycled Fibers or to a Malden branch of that company. North Shore recycled fibers also has branches in Haverhill, Haverhill Paper Board; Lawrence, Atlantic Coast Paper Board; and Natick, Natick Paper Board.

All these companies make paper board, a generic term that includes cardboard and the material used to make packaging of many kinds. Andover's paper makes boxes for all the Prince spaghetti products. A clay-coated paper-board is made in Lawrence that makes printing on it more satisfactory. Many boxes used for pizza are made in Haverhill. Andover's paper makes boxes for games manufactured by Milton Bradley and Parker Brothers like Monopoly and Trivial Pursuit.

Shoes and sneakers come in boxes made from paper recycled in Andover. Cereal boxes, soap powder boxes, tissue boxes and all those big ones that arrive at Christmas time. Ralston's Bran Chex has stamped "Carton made from 100% recycled fibers." Look for this information on some of your boxes. Paper cores are made from Andover's paper in Natick. These cores are purchased by toilet tissue and paper towel companies who cut them to size and use them to hold their products.

We all know we are saving our tax money directly by not dumping this paper. Here is proof that many products we buy are cheaper because recycled fibers are available.

National Hospice Month

The United States Congress passed a resolution on October 19 designating November as National Hospice Month. During this month groups across the country will honor the thousands of hospice staff and volunteers who provide care and support to terminally ill patients and families.

VNA HomeCare Hospice, Andover/Haverhill, is one of the 1,683 hospice programs throughout the country being recognized for its contributions toward the hospice movement. According to Patricia Murphy, R.N., director of the hospice division at VNA HomeCare, "The hospice concept was first introduced in the United States in 1979. The fact that in 1980 there were 270 hospice programs nationwide compared to the current figure of 1,700 in 1978 speaks clearly of the ever-growing need for such special services as are provided by hospice."

Murphy, the North Atlantic representative to the National Hospice Organization (NHO), will be a participant in NHO's annual meeting in Los Angeles during the week of November 13-18. Murphy will assist in presenting Susan Sullivan, star of television's "Falcon Crest" with the NHO "woman of the Year" award. Sullivan is the NHO national spokesperson. Her father was a recipient of hospice care.

As part of its National Hospice Month focus, VNA HomeCare Hospice will kick-off its fall volunteer recruitment program. Volunteers are needed for Greater Lawrence and Greater Haverhill patients and families. "The volunteer is a major part of the hospice team concept," states Carole Trickett, volunteer coordinator at VNA HomeCare Hospice. Volunteers provide care and support to terminally ill patients and families and assist the hospice team in the delivery of comprehensive services. The next volunteer training group will begin in late November or early December.

Hospice is a radically-directed, interdisciplinary program of supportive services as well as pain and symptom control for terminally ill patients and their families. Hospice is primarily a concept of care rather than a place. The majority of hospice services are delivered at home. Medicare certified hospices, which number only 389 nationally and in which VNA HomeCare Hospice is included, must also have inpatient agreements with a hospital or hospitals. VNA HomeCare maintains an inpatient unit specifically for its patients at Lawrence General Hospital and is reviewing plans for additional units.

VNA HomeCare Hospice provided care and support to nearly 300 patients and families throughout the Lawrence-Haverhill and southern New Hampshire community this year. VNA HomeCare Hospice is a member of the National Hospice Organization, Massachusetts Federation of Hospices, Massachusetts and New Hampshire Blue Cross Hospice Provider, Licensed Massachusetts and New Hampshire Home Health and Hospice Provider, accredited by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Hospitals and is a member agency of the Merrimack Valley United Fund.

For further information about hospice or to register for volunteer training, call hospice.

Residents Have Work In Craft Fair

Two Andover residents will display their crafts this month at a show sponsored by the GFWC Dedham Junior Women's Club Inc.

Judy Hamilton and Carolyn Richards will be among more than 70 professional artisans at the club's sixth annual craft show Saturday, Nov. 21, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Dedham Senior High School.

Hamilton will show puppets and animals made out of synthetic furs, while Richards will display high-fired stoneware pottery, featuring a country design. Pillows, fabric designs framed in wooden hoops and stuffed country animals like geese, ducks, cats and pigs will be on sale at the exhibit of Yolanda Mendez.

The artisans participating in the show have donated items to the raffle table. Proceeds will be used to purchase much needed books and visual aides for Dedham's elementary and middle school libraries.

A luncheon of homemade soups, baked goods, tea breads and croissant sandwiches will be served.

The GFWC Dedham Junior Woman's Club Inc. is a member of the National Federation of Women's Clubs Inc. This craft show is the major fundraiser for the group's scholarship fund and many community projects.

Accepted In Ventures Program

Karen A. Snell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Snell, 7 Mercury Circle, Andover, has been accepted into the Freshman Ventures Program at the University of Rochester, one of the leading universities in the Northeast.

A "venture" is a step outside of the ordinary and the freshman ventures are an exciting alternative to the traditional approach to the freshman year. Instead of electing four independent courses in each semester of the freshman year, the student has the opportunity to combine introductory freshman courses with an overarching theme.

In the 1984-85 academic year, the university received a $67,833 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to develop the Freshman Ventures Program.

Snell chose "Social and Biological Determinants of Behavior," one of the seven ventures programs. This venture introduces students to some literary, psychological and volutinary insights about the factors that shape behavior. English courses are combined with psychology and biology to help participants come to a better knowledge and understanding of what we are and how we act.

Cajun Meal Planned

Years ago in south Louisiana, Monday was wash day and wash day meant red beans and rice. Since then, wash day could be any time, but red beans and rice remain a Creole tradition. Red beans are prepared from dried kidney beans and cooked for hours, virtually unattended, over a low flame. This allowed the beans to soak in the flavor of ham hocks, sausages, cayenne pepper and other secret Cajun spices, including on some occasions, a swish of beer.

The social ministry committee of faithLutheran Church, 360 South Main St., Andover, invites the public to celebrate a night of good Cajun food and fellowship November 22 at 6 p.m. All the proceeds will go to the Andover Interfaith Counseling Service and Resurrection Lutheran Church in Roxbury and the committee hopes to obtain a matching grant from the Baystate Branch, 38247, of Lutheran Brotherhood.

For more information or to buy tickets, call the church office Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and noon.

Receies Merit Commendation

Thomas S. Hopkins, an Andover student at Phillips Academy, has received a National Merit Letter of Commendation. He was one of 80 seniors to be designated commended students in the 1988 National Merit Scholarship Program. They scored among the top 5 percent of the more than one million students taking the qualifying examination (PSAT test) and scored just below the National Merit Merit Semifinalists (30 at Phillips Academy) who will go on for scholarship competition.

Hopkins participates in recreational cycling, cross-country skiing and Tai Chi. He has acted in numerous drama productions at PA and was director of Jesus Christ Superstar. He is a member of the chorus, the Cantata choir and the "8 n' 1" singing group of which he is co-president.

Hopkins is a writer for the school newspaper, The Phillipian, and production staff head for The Mirror, a literary publication. He has been on the honor roll for three terms. Hopkins is the son of John and Ann Hopkins of Highland Road. Before coming to PA he was a student at The Pike School.

Substance

Byrne suggested "there needs to be something in the community to respond to kids outside of the school." In addition, parents must be motivated to action on the issue, which he remarked "will take more than just throwing money at the problem."

Alcohol is the most-abused drug, Byrne said, and adults who abuse alcohol and smoke marijuana or tobacco set poor examples for their children. Parental substance abuse is "a whole other issue that we must address," he commented.

Kenneth Seifert, superintendent of schools, gave an impassioned speech concerning the lack of support and concern for others among the people of Andover. "There seems to be an attitude around here that if you have a problem, and if you don't pull yourself up by the bootstraps with the help of your family and a few close friends, you're in trouble."

The entire field of Human Services needs to be drastically improved, Seifert stated. "We need to elevate this discussion to evaluate the human experience in Andover," he said. "We don't need more school counselors, we need family counseling, and that's just the tip of the iceberg."

"People are closing their eyes if they think abortions don't happen here," Seifert continued. "We have many senior citizens who live alone and are literally counting the days until they die. But it seems," he remarked, "when it comes to human services, you suffer in silence. Human services are sadly lacking in the Town of Andover."

One reason for the lack of community, Seifert said, is "a sense of impermanence" among children who realize they will not spend their entire lives in town.

"Kids know they will go off to college and not come back, because they can't afford to settle here," Seifert commented. "They know it's just a temporary thing, so they don't invest in the community that way."

This, the superintendent concluded, "begs the question of where are the roots here? And what does that mean for the future of the town?"

Debbie Moggio, 3 Hidden Road, denied parents were apathetic about substance abuse. "They're not apathetic, they're afraid," she said, adding "people in this town don't like embarrassment, so nobody talks about it."

There should be "a peer group for parents," Moggio suggested, to let parents know "they're not alone in this."

Silverman agreed, saying poor turnout at events such as Students

Against Drunk Driving nights highlight the attitude "that in many cases it's easier not to get involved. To get involved is like admitting you have a problem."

"The most important thing we've done tonight," Silverman commented, "is to bring this up for discussion."

Brenda O'Brien of the Community Services department said she was "frustrated" that many children appear to be "building barriers" and turning away from their parents, not just concerning drugs, but in other aspects as well.

Selectman William Dalton expressed hope that children who shut their parents out will realize their mistake and become better parents themselves when they are older. "The pendulum is always swinging," he said. "We won't find quick solutions to a problem like this, but we should try to make the pendulum swing back faster."

All types of books are included, especially a large number of children's books, plus a few records and framed prints. Bring your own grocery bags to fill with some well-worn, but still lovable books.

Commuters and housewives have discovered them and the library has been struggling to keep up with the demand. A new listing of all the library's holdings is available as a handout in the main reading room. New fiction, older classics and 'how-to' cassettes are included. When learning to walk, an infant may actually be better off in leather-soled shoes from Stride-Rite® than in sneakers. Because for one thing, the shoes have soft, flexible soles that are much less likely to 'Catch' on rugs or tile. So they're less likely to cause a forward fall. Sugarplum fairies, tin soldiers and Tschkowsky's music will fill the Wang Center in Boston for the Boston ballet's annual presentation of "The Nutcracker." A special senior citizen matinee has been scheduled for Monday, Dec. 28. The Council on Aging has scheduled a trip at the special low price of $15 which includes orchestra seats and transportation. Buses leave Andover at 12:30 p.m. and return at 5:30 p.m. Tickets are limited.

Another holiday music special you won't want to miss is the November 17 trip to New York City for the Rockettes Christmas Show at Radio City Music Hall. The $53 price includes tickets and deluxe coach transportation. Buses leave Andover at 6 a.m. and return around 11:30 p.m. with coffee and dinner stops enroute.

Only a few places remain for the trip to the Trapp Lodge in Stowe, Vermont on December 6 and 7. The balance is now due for those who made reservations for this trip.

Tickets for the Council on Aging Thanksgiving Party on Tuesday, Nov. 24, at 12 noon are on sale now for $2. Enjoy a turkey dinner with all the trimmings, dancing to Chet Harnden's one-man band and fun for all. Tickets are limited, so get yours today.

Mary Fitzgerald, society editor of the Lawrence Eagle Tribune, will speak at the For Women Only series on Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 10 a.m. about life in Greater Lawrence. Coffee and refreshments will be served.

The dates for the Andover Lodge of Elks annual Christmas parties have been set for Sunday, Dec. 6 and 13. Tickets will be distributed by lottery. Applications can be made at the senior center Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Only Andover residents age 60 and older are eligible. Couples may register together. Only one ticket and application per person. Deadline for entry in the lottery is November 24. The Elks have announced that they will be unable to provide transportation this year.

Have you ever needed a stamp and dreaded the thought of trying to find a parking space near the Post Office? Well, the Council on Aging, in cooperation with the Andover Post Office, is now selling stamps at the senior center. Stamps are available in books of ten for $2.20.

As the temperature drops, thoughts turn to snow and bad weather. You are reminded that activities at the senior center are cancelled when school is closed due to the weather. The Council on Aging office remains open and the staff is ready to answer calls on school closing days. It's business as usual for the Council on Aging, but activities will be cancelled. For information on senior center closings, listen to WCCM.

The volume of phone calls to the Council on Aging is high and sometimes people have difficulty getting through on 470-3830. We have had reports of prolonged busy signals or phones not being answered. If you need to reach the Council on Aging and can't get through on our direct line, call the Town Hall switchboard and ask for extension 288.

Distribution of Commodity cheese, butter, flour and rice will take place Monday, Nov. 16, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Andover Senior Center.

Don't forget the Holiday Fair on Monday, Nov. 16, at the senior center from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Baked goods, Christmas tree ornaments, stocking stuffers, knit goods and more will be on sale. Proceeds benefit the senior center activities fund.

Time's Sake For Old

Chubby Checker will bring his high energy rock and roll show to the Collins Center for the Performing Arts on Shawsheen Road Saturday, Nov. 21 at 8 p.m.

Checker, who makes a triumphant return to the Collins Center stage, will be backed by his fantastic band, the Wildcats.

The entire evening will feature music and dancing in the theater, dance contests, prizes for best period costumes and a special feature of ladies trivia.

"This is an opportunity for everyone to wear their letter sweater and relive their rock and roll days," said Dr. Glen A. Gulezian, Collins Center manager. "During his last show at the Collins Center, everyone from 6 to 60 was twisting in the aisles."

Checker will always be known as the man who invented the twist, a craze that now seems quite dated. When he recorded "The Twist" he was only 19. After it was forgotten, Checker was still a young man.

Even though he hasn't had a hit record for almost a quarter of a century, Checker stands above the parade of typical nostalgia acts. He is part of our history—a man who led a revolution.

"In 1960 people started dancing apart and they've been doing that ever since," he said. "Before me, no one ever did that."

Checker likes to say, "If it wasn't for Chubby Checker, fun as we know it today would not exist."

He had six top 10 hits between 1961 and 1963. Over the years "The Twist" sold 70 million copies and Checker grabbed 12 gold records.

Checker played "The Twist" to its hilt, recording "Twistin' USA," "Let's Twist Again," "Twist it Up," "Slow Twistin'," and starred in a couple of twist movies, all before the British invasion stole rock's attention.

Tickets are on sale at the Collins Center box office, Shawsheen Road, Andover, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and at all Ticketron locations. Group discounts are available.

Founded in 1940, the Masterworks Chorale is a versatile ensemble of 115 singers selected by audition from the Boston metropolitan area. The Masterworks Chorale was the recipient of Boston Magazine's prestigious "Best of Boston" award in August 1986.

The chorus has been heard with the Boston Ballet and Boston Concert Opera and its members form the nucleus of the Great Woods Festival Chorus, which performs during July and August with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Michael Tilson Thomas.

Day Of Recollection For Elderly

St. Augustine's parish will hold its annual Day of Recollection for seniors on Wednesday, Nov. 18 from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Good Counsel Hall. Coffee and donuts will be served during an informal gathering from 9:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. The first spiritual talk will begin at 10. Father Tom Meehan and Sister Eunice Condric are the speakers. The Sacrament of Reconciliation will be offered before a luncheon served by Mike's Catering and the day will end with the celebration of Mass.

There is no charge for the luncheon, but reservations must be made by calling St. Augustine's rectory by Wednesday, Nov. 11. Rides can be arranged for those who need transportation.

There is no single cat called a panther. The name is commonly applied to the leopard, puma and jaguar.

The game of Mah Jongg was played in China as early as 500 B.C.

Concert At South Church

The South Church Performing Art Series will feature Bruce Adami at a concert of organ music Sunday, Nov. 15 at 4 p.m. at the church, 41 Central St., Andover.

Adami, director of music and organist at Brookside Congregational Church, UCC, Manchester, N.H., will present works by Dietrich Buxtehude, Francois Couperin, Marcel Dupre, Charles Marie Widor, Cesar Franck and Johann Sebastian Bach.

Adami was previously choirmaster and organist at Grace Episcopal Church, Lawrence. He holds a Bachelor of Music degree in organ from Oberlin College Conservatory of Music where he studied with Haskell Thomson and Miles Mauney. Adami has given organ recitals throughout New England and is a frequent performer at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall and Trinity Church, Boston. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Adami, 4 Athena Circle, Andover.

Adami will perform on the new Bozeman organ built by the George Bozeman Company of Deerfield, N.H., and installed at South Church in March 1987. It replaces the South Church organ originally built around the turn of the century for Philips Academy and moved to South Church in 1931. Adami spent two years working as an organbuilder for the George Bozeman Company.

The organ concert, one of several of the Performing Arts Series, presented in dedication of the new organ, is open to the public.

AHPC Reconsiders Abbot's Pond Proposal

By Lewis C. Howe

The Board of Selectmen Monday night focused on the town's affordable housing crunch.

Carl Byers, chairman of the Andover Housing Partnership Committee (AHPC), presented the selectmen with recommendations from the AHPC on four comprehensive permit housing proposals. Byers said the committee was "reconsidering" its negative vote concerning the Abbot's Pond proposal in light of new information received about the purchase price of the land on Argilla Road. The AHPC recommended funding also be denied from the state for the Northwoods, Riverview Commons and Dundee Place comprehensive permits.

Selectman Chairman Gerald Silverman told Byers "we're not voting on anything tonight," and added "if you can get a different recommendation to us before our vote (on November 23), we will consider that."

The AHPC will reconsider Abbot's Pond at their Nov. 18 meeting. "We will listen to more commentary," said Byers, "and reevaluate the numbers."

Byers told the selectmen he was "dismayed" by the board's decision to table the AHPC's recommendation to fund the Brookside Estates proposal on the condition that the development not exceed 150 units. "The selectmen seemed to have dealt with our opinion in a cavalier fashion," remarked Byers.

Silverman responded the selectmen "had been divided" in their decision not to pass the AHPC's recommendation on to the state, "but the feeling was we hoped the ZBA (Zoning Board of Appeals) would conclude their negotiations with the developer before our vote."

The ZBA is negotiating with Winn Development, developer of Brookside, over the number of units for the project. The board of appeals favors 134 units, while Winn has plans to construct 190 mixed-income condominiums. Selectmen feared the AHPC's recommendation would undercut the ZBA's negotiating stance.

Last week, Silverman sent a letter to the Executive Office of Communities and Development (EOCD) reaffirming that "the Town of Andover still has not given approval to any Comprehensive Permit. They are still under negotiation."

Silverman said he sent the letter "to clarify where things stand." The selectmen, he explained, "kept hearing things" from the state "that led us to believe they were going to fund one of these projects. We wanted them to know that we haven't approved anything."

Poor communication at the state level necessitated the letter, Silverman commented. "Sometimes the state doesn't seem to pay much attention to cities and towns" he said. The selectman added he understood the funding process for all Andover comprehensive permits "has been delayed for one month" until December 10.

Stephen Colyer, town physical planner, explained the state housing finance agency (MHFA) reviews a number of proposals every month, and the selectmen's letter advises the state to postpone all cases in Andover until the town submits a definitive opinion on each proposal.

"The funding process is different from the actual comprehensive permit application," Colyer noted. "The permits themselves have already been approved by the zoning board."

Silverman told Byers the selectmen will vote on all AHPC recommendations at the board's next meeting on November 23. "We have the full intent to pass your recommendation on," he said, adding "we are not disregarding it."

The selectmen chairman said "since we're not voting tonight, unless we hear from (Byers) with a changed recommendation, we will vote on what we have in hand."

Jane Legendre, of the Argilla Road Neighborhood Association (ARNA), a group of residents opposed to Abbot's Pond, said she had been told by Cathy Burns of the state Housing Finance Agency (MHFA) that "the final vote was put off for a month, but they (the MHFA) will conditionally approve Abbot's Pond (yesterday)."

Legendre remarked, "I'm not certain what 'conditionally approve' means, but I know what it means to me."

Silverman said he was unaware of such a provision, but stated "the developer must have the support of the local Housing Partnership Committee and the community" before the state can grant funding for a project.

Honest Businessman Returns Lost Ring

Norma Lochmann thought she'd never see her engagement ring again when she lost it in downtown Andover.

Thanks to good fortune and an honest Andover businessman, she has it back.

David Bider, co-owner of Andover Dance and Music Center on Post Office Avenue, found the diamond and emerald ring, but didn't know where to find its owner. In the meantime, Lochmann of 35 Penni Lane, North Andover, placed notices about her lost ring in area newspapers.

A boy who takes lessons at the Dance and Music Center spotted one of the ads and told Bider.

"It was easily seen," Lochmann said. "I lost it on Post Office Avenue, which is a teenager's haven. I thought some young man would pick it up and give it to his girlfriend, and she wouldn't know the value of it."

When Bider called her about the ring he had found, Lochmann said she was impressed by his professionalism.

"I really thought it was the police department, because he put me through my paces," she said. "He asked me how many emeralds were around the diamond. He said, 'You said it was an heirloom, yet it doesn't look that old.' I said, 'It's been with me for 20 years, and I'm becoming an antique.'"

Lochmann met Bider and showed him a picture of her ring. It was the same one Bider had found, and Lochmann had her prized possession once more.

Bider refused to take the reward money Lochmann offered him.

"I don't need the money," he said later. "You don't need money for being honest. It's your conscience."

For Lochmann, Bider's honesty was more than a simple gesture. "My children are teenagers," she said. "And I don't know if their value system is what it was when I was their age. It was a valuable lesson for them."

Town Questions 'In-law' Apartment

By Lewis C. Howe

The town's zoning bylaws define an "in-law" apartment as "a room or rooms" permitted as part of a single-family dwelling to allow for the care of a sick relative. After the relative either recovers or passes on, the house must revert to its original use, and the spare rooms may not be rented.

The Zoning Board of Appeals has had to interpret the statute twice in the past two months, usually to the chagrin of residents. In October, the ZBA denied John O'Brien's petition to change his in-law apartment into a rental unit, and O'Brien subsequently put his house up for sale.

Last week, the ZBA heard the case of David and Nancy Parker, of Derry, N.H., who are seeking to convert part of a home at 102 Greenwood Road for a unit designed to care for Nancy's arthritic mother. If his wife's mother cannot be accommodated, David Parker said the couple will not be able to buy the house and fulfill their dream of living in Andover.

"I grew up here," Parker told the board, "and I want to move back." Parker's mother still lives in Andover, and Nancy Parker pointed out the close proximity "would be good for both" mothers-in-law.

The Parkers' proposal requires no construction, Nancy said. The couple would reside in the downstairs portion of the house, with the in-law apartment consisting of a kitchen, dining room, bath and three upstairs bedrooms. Mrs. Parker explained her mother currently lives in a large old house in Reading "and she's used to having a lot of room."

ZBA members, however, were less than receptive to the classification of the upstairs of the house as "an in-law apartment." Wes Whitney, board chairman, stated "the purpose of an in-law apartment is to have a small apartment to care for in-laws, not a huge three-bedroom area." The Parkers, he continued, "are really creating a substantial apartment."

ZBA member Jane Griswold termed the proposal "awkward" because of the extraordinary size of the in-law unit. "We're very concerned about what precedent we set," Griswold explained. "We have to ask, what was the town's intent when it passed the bylaw?"

Whitney agreed, saying "we're talking about an in-law apartment, not a full-scale house." In the past, he commented, "what we have dealt with is nothing of the magnitude of this proposal."

"In my opinion," Whitney said, "this is not what was envisioned by the town when it passed the in-law apartment bylaw."

Don Drinkwater, current owner of 102 Greenwood Road, said he was unclear as to why the board "was refusing this." Whitney replied, "We haven't refused anything."

When Drinkwater's real estate agent continually asked what was wrong with the planned apartment, Whitney answered, "it's too big. That's simply it. It's too big."

Drinkwater then asked the board if a realignment of the house's interior—to decrease the size of the in-law unit—would be acceptable, Whitney said "it might well be. We'd have to see it as a separate petition."

ZBA member Roger Collins remarked "I have some disagreement" with Whitney's position, saying "I don't have a problem with a mother coming in to live with the family in an in-law apartment, just so that when she moves or departs this world that it again becomes a one-family house."

At this point, Nancy Parker assured the board "we don't intend to sell it as a two-family home at any time," and Drinkwater asked whether "worrying about the future hinders what could be done to make (the family) comfortable at present."

Griswold, citing the O'Brien case, responded "we've run into too many of these things that come back to haunt us."

The board took a viewing of the site on Saturday, and will render a decision on the petition later this month.

Having Fun And Making Friends

By Melissa M. De Meo

When approximately 175 kids got together at Phillips Academy last weekend for basketball and duck-duck-goose, it was more than game-playing.

The point of Special Games, held Sunday afternoon in the PA gymnasium and cage, is to make friends, according to Mary Minard, who helped coordinate the event.

Special needs children from Merrimack Valley and PA students in their school's community service program got together for the games and some socializing along the way.

"It provides a chance for friendships to develop," Minard said. "We see them (the children) in a variety of other situations as well."

The community service program Minard helps direct at PA includes an athletic program on Tuesday nights. PA students are paired with local kids to play basketball and other games. Some of those kids were at the Special Games Sunday.

Johnny Garabedian, 20, of Andover was one of them. "I take my time and try my hardest," he said. "I feel good about that."

Garabedian delivered the opening address at the games. The kids, most of them under 21, participated in opening and closing ceremonies. They were divided into two teams—blue and red—each with a captain, but everyone got a participant ribbon and balloon.

This year was the second year the games were organized under the community service program. The idea is to make them more than a one-shot event. The PA students will do some kind of follow-up activity with the game participants, Minard said.

And it's not just the special needs students who benefit. "It really gives a chance for our (PA) kids to be themselves with people who accept them for that," Minard said. "Our school is so competitive and so structured that our kids just crave something that's non-competitive and non-cerebral. That's one of the reasons the community service program is so popular."

Garabedian says he likes the PA students, two of whom were "buddies" to each games participant. He put it in a nutshell: "It's a good time, and you get along with the people."

Shocking Apathy

A report presented Monday night by Jim Byrne of Advocates for Human Potential, has pointed out a rather shocking problem for Andover residents.

His study on substance abuse and other social issues presented to the selectmen Monday night pointed to the fact that substance abuse in Andover is a continuing problem with the contributing factors being residential apathy and poor parental guidance.

The study was done with a number of local residents, business people, educators and police participating.

While the report is considered shocking in some respects, it would seem more appropriate to term the findings an airing publicly of something which has probably been known for some time but not talked about.

During the process of discussion Monday night it was pointed out that the problem of drunk driving, for instance, only becomes an issue when a young person is fatally injured in an alcohol-related accident. The issue is quickly forgotten once the initial shock is over.

This is evident in the slim attendance at Students Against Drunk Driving meetings at the high school level, according to Monday night's discussion.

Byrne advised there is a need to do something outside the schools in order to combat the problem. 'Something other than throwing money at the problem,' to make it go away, he said.

The consultant seems to be on target in his study and findings.

How often have problems, such as vandalism in the schools, been met with a boys will be boys attitude on the part of parents pleading for mercy for their youngsters as punishment is doled out by police and educational administrators.

Too often the schools have been called upon as the cure-all for social problems, and even combatting substance abuse problems, when such remedial action rightfully belongs in the home.

Supt. of Schools Kenneth R. Seifert remarked that there is not a need for more school counselors, but rather family counselors.

Seifert also commented on the fact that the elderly and needy in the community are being neglected by an affluent community which really doesn't care about such matters.

The superintendent said that the town bird should be the ostrich as far as facing problems is concerned.

'The entire field of human service needs to be evaluated in Andover,' Seifert advised, noting, 'We need to elevate this discussion to evaluate the human experience in Andover.'

While all of this discussion and review of a fine report was enlightening and may have been something administrators were not thrilled to hear Monday night, the question now remains as to what action will be taken to improve the quality of life in Andover.

The effort will prove worthless if the action ends with Monday's discussion.

Rather it is to be hoped that the town will, through the leadership of its officials, lend credence to the findings by putting forth some type of effort to turn things around.

And, primarily, for families to recognize that these problems exist and to take corrective action on their own to reinstitute the family unit as being the most vital force in combating the problems mentioned during Monday night's discussion.

DOWN THE YEARS

75 Years Ago — November 1912

Owing to the Andover-Exeter game there will be no dance at the Guild house Saturday evening. Buchan and Francis will close their store tomorrow afternoon from 12 to 6 o'clock to allow all hands to see the game.

The public schools were closed last Friday to give the teachers an opportunity to attend the convention of the Essex County Teachers' Association in Boston.

The annual Harvest Ball, held under the Woman's Auxiliary of the Guild, will take place in the Town House on Friday evening.

On Thursday, October 31, Lucy Lloyd, a little nine-year-old girl, picked enough raspberries near her home on Highland Road to feed four persons. Rather unusual for this time of year.

Thanksgiving eve the firemen hold their 41st annual entertainment and ball. As usual, the Columbian orchestra will furnish the music.

50 Years Ago — November 1937

Dr. Claude M. Fuess, headmaster of Phillips Academy, will speak on "The Modern Trend in Education" at the meeting of the Andover PTA on Wednesday evening in the Memorial auditorium.

Armistice Day exercises were held at 11 yesterday morning at the Legion lot in Spring Grove cemetery, with Legion and British War Veterans taking part.

The British War Veterans' fourth annual military ball will be held tonight in the town hall, with old-time and modern dancing on the program.

Punchard High will travel to Methuen tomorrow a heavy favorite to win the annual contest, unless an epidemic of colds continues to leave the local ranks depleted.

All the town officials have been invited to a round-table meeting tonight by the directors of the Andover Taxpayers' Association, in the lower hall starting at eight.

25 Years Ago — November 1962

Seventeen members of the Andover High A Capella Choir, Band and Orchestra have won memberships in the Northeastern Massachusetts Music Festival Choir, Orchestra and Band.

Nine bids—most within appropriated amounts—have been received on Rogers Brook construction. The apparent low bidder is A. D'Alessandro and Sons, at $216,509.

Pike School is planning to move into its new facilities by September, 1963, according to an announcement by the school this week.

Football enthusiasts take note. The Andover-Winthrop game this Saturday will start promptly at 11 a.m. at the Playstead.

Andover held true to its traditions on election day, piling up majorities for most Republican candidates. And there was more-than-usual agreement on two ballot questions. An overwhelming "no" vote was recorded on the graduate income tax issue, and against legislators' pay raises.

10 Years Ago — November 1977

The appointment of former Town Manager J. Maynard Austin to a position as special assistant to the acting manager is expected to be acted on by the selectmen at their meeting Monday at Memorial Hall Library.

Volunteers for appointment to the street lighting committee have been requested to submit applications to the town manager's office.

A seven to nine-member committee will be appointed to study the town's solid waste problems.

The Town of Andover tax bills are in the mail. The first payment will be due and payable Dec. 12.

Selectmen Monday night issued a proclamation designating the year Nov. 1, 1977 through Nov. 1, 1978 as Merrimack Valley Philharmonic year. The action was similar to a statewide proclamation issued by Governor Michael Dukakis.

Warriors To Seek Seventh

By Lewis C. Howe

The Andover High School Golden Warriors go after their seventh straight Merrimack Valley Conference victory tomorrow night at 7 at Eugene Lovely Field against Tewksbury in what will be the final under-the-lights contest of the season.

It was a bundled-up crowd that turned out in 28-degree weather last Friday night to watch Andover chill the Lawrence Lancers, 21-0, on the strength of two first-quarter touchdown runs by Paul DeMarco.

The Andover defense stiffened in the cold and put the visiting Lancers on ice, allowing just 109 total yards for the Lawrence eleven, whose record slipped to 2-5-1.

The Warriors (6-1) struck early following defensive tackle Mark Duncan's recovery of a fumbled snap at the Lawrence 32 yard line on the second play of the game. An option pass from split end John Perry to Chris Onufer gave the Golden Warriors a first down at the 20.

Pick Lafond, starting in place of the flu-ridden Devon Arsenault, ran a trap play for 13 yards on the next play, setting up DeMarco's first score, a seven-yard carry up the middle.

Lawrence's vaunted defensive front was cut to ribbons by Andover during the first period, as Lafond and DeMarco took turns pounding away for tough yardage on the Warriors' next offensive series. Andover covered 53 yards in 9 plays, all on the ground save two incomplete passes by Brandon McCue (8-19, 100 yards in the numbing night air).

DeMarco dove over from the one, and Andy Weiner's second PAT of the game made it 14-0 with two minutes to go in the first quarter. Lawrence's virtually non-existent offense (just 23 points scored all season) was unable to mount any serious threat throughout the remainder of the contest.

Andover's bid to add to their lead was snuffed out when Duncan was called for clipping early in the second quarter, wiping out at 29 yard touchdown run by Perry. Perry wound up being held scoreless for the first time since the Warriors dropped their opening game of the season to Chelmsford on September 18.

Each side slipped into a monotonous pattern of punts and penalties as the game wore on. A total of fifteen yellow hankies dotted the terrain during the contest—not counting the half-dozen or so fouls which were declined—for a total of 125 yards in penalties.

The Lancers' one chance to make a game of it resulted from the good graces of Referee Walter Janicki and his crew. In the final minute of the first half, Andover had the ball at midfield when McCue sent Perry on a post pattern for the end zone. The 5' 10" receiver appeared to have been interfered with on the five yard line, and protests from the Andover bench brought two consecutive unsportsmanlike conduct calls.

A four-yard loss on the next carry by LaFond (15 carries for 85 yards) left the Warriors with a somewhat ridiculous third down and 43 from their own 16. Perry fumbled on the next play, and the Lancers were in business at the Andover 33 yard line and 35 seconds to play in the half.

Lawrence quarterback Joseph Celia (2 completions, 24 yards) hit John Carroll for a first down to the 17, but John Thompson picked off Celia's second-and-eight toss at the Andover one yard line.

After a scoreless and somewhat dreary third quarter, McCue led a drive from the Andover 41 to the Lawrence 19 before being intercepted by Lancer safety Matthew Halloran at the 10. After Lawrence failed to gain a first down, the Warriors got the ball back at the Lancer 42. Four plays later, McCue hit Tom Murray for a 26-yard touchdown strike to close out the scoring.

The three touchdowns scored by Andover accounted for exactly half the total surrendered by the Lawrence defense during its first seven games. With Arsenault reportedly back on his feet, and with the hopes of a more temperate climate, the Warriors will seek to keep the pressure on undefeated Chelmsford in the drive for the conference title.

Hat Trick For PeeWees

Ritchie Enos and Brendan Sheehy recorded hat tricks in four games over the past two weeks. Un-even play by Andover saw them drop close games to Nashoba 5-3, Woburn 6-4 and Gate City (Nashua) 5-1 while a solid team effort stopped a larger Haverhill team 5-3. Mike Lombard (2), Darrin Cianci and Jay Stella recorded goals. Assists were given to Sean Donohue (2), John Brodine, Jason Loomer (2), Dan Kenny, Mark Pirri and Lombard (2). Ryan Doyle and Doug Batchelder played solid defense during the four games.

Andover took the lead early against Woburn and Nashoba, but tired as the game progressed as the larger squads came on in the third period to overwhelm Andover's defense. When Andover played its game of hard skating, passing, forechecking and backchecking and keeping their opponents from getting second and third shots on goalie Phil Smith, they looked unbeatable. With a full squad back after vacation and schedule conflicts, coach Mike Lombard is looking forward to improved results.

West Freshmen Fall

By Amy Burnham

The freshman field hockey team traveled to O'Neil Park last Monday for a game with the Lady Lancers of Lawrence High School only to come up on the short end of a 3-0 score. West's starting freshmen all had a great game led by Melissa McCarty in goal, Maureen Mitchell and Amy Burnham at link and Kerry Zaloga on wing.

Eighth graders Grace Perry teamed with Juliusstreefer who was pressed into action as a replacement for ailing Tina Colucci at inner and the entire backfield was covered by eighth graders Michelle Bailey, Debra Flashenberg, Amy Fantini, Stephanie Carroll, Jennifer Enos and Rebecca Goldman.

The team met at the varsity field on Tuesday to watch the varsity take on Lawrence High School and help out in the video production that was aired on cable television Thursday night.

The team traveled to Doherty after two days of practice and came up five goals short with four freshman and seven eighth graders on the field. The bright spot is that we will have 12 returning players next year. We would also like to welcome two late comers. Stephanie Carroll became eligible for play three weeks ago and has seen a great deal of action. Eighth grader Alicia Dennehy arrived at West Junior High just last Monday and started against Doherty on Friday.

Among the parents and friends of both teams on hand to watch the action was Sandra Lund, the varsity field hockey coach.

The Doherty team hosted a Coca-Cola party after the game. Everyone had a good time.

As the last week of the season commences, we hope to notch wins over Dracut and Masconomet and end the season on a winning note.

A pain in the neck can make you a "pain in the neck"

If you're feeling irritable and argumentative, if you snap at someone and later wonder why, it could be caused by that slight pain you feel in your neck — it's the sign of a pinched nerve. Feelings of irritability, depression and being tired, even after a good night sleep, can also be traced to a pinched nerve. This condition is treated daily by chiropractic. Left untreated, you may suffer from headaches, shoulder pains, arm pains, and an overall lack of energy. If you are experiencing any of these symptoms, I urge you to have a chiropractic examination.

Bantam B Skates Past Tewksbury

Andover outplayed a strong Tewksbury team to win 4-1.

Andover took the lead early in the first period when the line of Dan Feeley, Ed Thistle and Keogh Lutch moved the puck into the Tewksburys' zone. Thistle made a great play at the line to feed Feeley the puck and Feeley scored the first of his two goals of the game. Andover's defense, Paul Bellavance, Gerry D'Angelo, Jamie Foley, Jamie Himber and Eric Patterson, worked hard to fight off Tewksbury's offense while Bob Kenny kept the momentum going by making many exceptional saves in goal. Andover went up 2-0 when Foley got the puck and moved it quickly up ice to Feeley for a short-handed bid. Feeley scored, being down four men to five. Tewksbury scored the only goal in the second period leaving the score 2-1 going into the third.

Thistle stole the puck to go in and score an unassisted goal. Andover's offense of Dave Driben, Matt Waugh and Pete O'Shea dug down deep. Working the puckout of their own end, O'Shea was sent in all alone to score putting Andover up 4-1 for a very impressive win.

Dolphins Survive Scare

The Raiders gave the league champion Dolphins a scare before succumbing to the undefeated juggernaut in the final week of 1987 Andover Junior Football League play.

The Colts capped their campaign by humbling the Redskins 12-0. The league will wind up activity with its annual awards banquet tonight, Nov. 12, at the Greater Lawrence Regional High School.

Raiders 12

A previously unscored-upon Dolphin club jumped to a two touchdown advantage, then had to scramble before prevailing. Matt Harris opened the game by firing a 63-yard TD pass to John Shea. Three plays later, Shea took advantage of a Raider turnover by scrambling for an eight-yard touchdown.

Rodney Lumley brought the Raiders back with a score, but Shea responded by scampering six yards for pay dirt. Another Lumley score caused edginess in the Dolphin camp until Paul Allard sealed the affair with a two-yard clincher.

Selectman Proposes Office Hours For Accessibility

By Lewis C. Howe

The Board of Selectmen may be holding office hours in town if a proposal by Selectman Gail Ralston is adopted by the board.

At a work session Monday night, Ralston discussed the issues of "accessibility" between town officials and the surrounding community, and suggested holding office hours as one means of gaining input from more of their constituents.

"We usually don't have regular phone contact with the public unless there are 'hot issues,'" Ralston commented. "Usually, we see the same people turning up at meetings."

This results, she noted, in "having regular contacts with a small amount of people in town, but not really reaching a mass audience." Ralston proposed having at least one board member hold office hours at a centralized location—such as the Memorial Hall Library—once a month on a Saturday. State representatives and U. S. Congressmen habitually hold office hours, she pointed out, and it makes sense to do so at a local level as well.

Selectman Charles Wesson acknowledged "we've done it before, and it hasn't worked, but that doesn't mean we shouldn't do it again."

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony commented "Sue (State Representative Susan Tucker) and Pat (Senator Patricia McGovern) haven't been overwhelmed by the response—you usually get one person or maybe two on a Saturday morning."

Ralston said she believes the relaxed setting will encourage residents to speak with selectmen. "People may not come to meetings because they're intimidated by the (cable

'Boys And Ghouls'

The Central Catholic High School Theatre Guild opens its 17th season with the presentation of "Boys and Ghouls Together" from Friday, Nov. 20, through Sunday, Nov. 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Allan B. Rogers Memorial Theatre at Central Catholic High School, Lawrence.

The show, under the direction of Central Catholic English instructor Karen Moynihan of Methuen, is a comedy which depicts the travels of a youth group who stop at a hostel in the Alps and meet up with the Draculas. Tickets may be purchased from Central Catholic students or at the door.

The 19-member cast, made up of students from Central Catholic, St. Mary High School, Lawrence, and Presentation of Mary Academy, Methuen, includes Christopher Merrill, Dawn Marie Gavin, Meg Geddes, Kathleen Hughes, Mariola Mroczko and Debbie Vasques, all of Lawrence; Peter Murphy and Bruce Villeneuve of Lowell; Richard LaSpina, Kevin O'Neill, Becky O'Sullivan of Methuen; Christian Fullerton and Erin Murphy of Haverhill; Jackie Danahy of Groveland; Miriam Robbins of Georgetown; Danielle Blaine of Salem, N.H.; Mark Justin and Erik Marino of Plaistow, N.H.; Kevin O'Donnell of Kingston, N.H.

Roger and Betty Desjardins of Andover serve as technical directors.

Central Catholic High School, founded in 1935 by the Marist Brothers, is an all-boys secondary school specializing in Christian education for students in grades 9-12. Boys from 32 Merrimack Valley and southern New Hampshire communities make up the 822-member student body.

St. Anselm

St. Anselm College announced its Centennial Campaign to raise a record $12.5 million.

John J. Reilly, Jr., chairman of the Centennial Campaign and the board of trustees, said the college has already raised more than $5.1 million in advance major gifts before the public phase of the campaign began.

The campaign funds will be used for student financial aid, faculty development endowment, library expansion and development and the operating budget.

As the government has reduced its commitment to help students gain a higher education, St. Anselm has had to devote more of its own funds to assist deserving students, according to Brother Joachim W. Froehlich, O.S.B., president of the college.

The earliest libraries contained clay tablets on which symbols were inscribed. Next came papyrus and the use of animal skin parchment.

television) camera, and they may not call us at home because they're afraid of invading our privacy."

The selectmen also discussed possible warrant articles for April's annual Town Meeting. Mahony mentioned several, including appropriations to purchase "at least one more fire engine" for the fire department, a bylaw regulating satellite dish television antennas, and numerous road and sewer projects.

Another item discussed at the work session was the new U. S. Post Office on Stevens St. Mahony said the site would be a two-story building with parking in the basement of the building. The federal government does not need a building permit for construction of the post office, he noted, because "they have a thing called supremacy."

Wesson asked "does this mean that under the law, the federal government can go any place and do anything they want?"

"That's right," said Mahony.

"It sounds like the ultimate comprehensive permit" quipped a resident in the audience.

Recorders Requested

The American Automobile Association has called on the Federal Highway Administration to require the use of on-board recording devices in large commercial trucks.

The electronic "black boxes," which record data such as speed, time driven and distance traveled, would replace the pencil-and-paper log books now required of commercial truck drivers. Log books are easily tampered with and falsified, AAA said in comments submitted to the federal docket.

A recent study prepared for the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety found that driver fatigue was a probable cause of 41 percent of the truck accidents examined in the study.

Federal regulations generally permit driving 10 hours at a stretch with off-duty periods of eight hours in between.

AAA said the benefits of using on-board recording devices include reduced driver fatigue, fewer traffic accidents, reduced highway deaths and injuries, lower insurance premiums for trucking companies and less unfair competition in the trucking industry.

The body constantly produces new cells for the purpose of growth and repair—about 500,000 daily.

William Pontiac of 503 River St., Haverhill, invites you to their showroom where you can see first-hand the '88 Bonneville SSE. No Pontiac in recent history has brought so much technology and convenience together into one car like the Bonneville SSE.

Manager Mike Bucci feels it is a bit of an understatement to call the following list of features, standard equipment, yet they are part of every SSE touring sedan.

- Special aero ground effects.

- Ten-way power adjust seats with lumbar support.

- Central door lock/unlock system and driver's door-mounted control pod.

- Console-mounted lumbar and headrest seat adjustments.

- Steering wheel-mounted radio controls and analog instruments.

- Electronic ride control.

- Special purpose suspension.

- Headlamp washers.

- Flash-to-pass headlamp control.

- 3.8 liter SFI 3800 V6 engine.
- GM Protection Plan.

As you will see, the SSE is the end result of engineers who built a world-class touring sedan that rivals or surpasses anything that isn't glass or road rubber seems to be painted the body color - puts the SSE in the foreground through its styling distinction.

Andover Wins MVC Title, Advances To Quarter Finals

By Scott Fries

Two Wednesdays ago, the Andover men's varsity soccer squad defeated Billerica on foreign turf 3-1 to capture their seventh MVC title in eight years with a 12-2-1 conference record. The Warriors closed their regular season Halloween night by losing 4-2 to the Scarlet Knights of North Andover. The Warriors took a 12-3-3 overall record into the state playoffs and defeated Greater Lowell 2-0 last Sunday afternoon to advance to the quarter finals.

Billerica took the early lead on a defensive lapse which left the ball lying open in front of Andover's net with no one covering it. The game stayed 1-0 until halftime with the Andover defense sticking it out with fine performances by Jim Murphy and Tim Hagerty. Andover wasted little time in scoring in the second half. Billy Martin pushed the ball through a set of Billerica defenders to Tom Cioffi from the left side of the penalty box. Cioffi was able to get off a quick shot that evaded the rushing goalie and found the open net. Eric Jones raised the tally on an excellent shot from the lower left part of the penalty area which tricked everyone, dribbling across the top of the penalty area looking for a chance to shoot, found an opening and pounded the ball into the upper right corner of the net. Senior Rob Stoltz came out with a win, in large part to his excellent performance, making numerous key stops as Andover took the MVC crown in the title game.

The Warriors wrapped up their fine regular season, losing to long-time rivals North Andover. Andover had trouble sticking to its game plan, resorting to a game of kick and run. When they collected the ball, it was usually sent up the middle to a waiting North Andover player. Controlled passing and ball handling became almost non-existent as the Warriors were busy chasing a speedy North Andover team. Andover received goals from Bill Martin and Cioffi to make the final score 4-2.

A week of intense preparation paid off as the Warriors defeated Greater Lowell 2-0 in the opening of round of state playoffs on goals by Rich Atkinson and Mike Mooney. Fortunately, Greater Lowell did not field a strong team for Andover did not play one of its better games. The ball appeared to stay on one side of the field for an eternity; Andover not aware of the large gaps left open by Lowell's defense. Passing was inconsistent and it seemed impossible for an Andover forward to get a shot on net. Offense was controlled with ease by Andover's defense, led by junior sweeper Mark Angelos who performed brilliantly in filling in for regular sweeper and co-captain Tim Hagerty who sustained a broken nose in practice the day before the game. The second half was even more lopsided as Greater Lowell did not register a single shot on goalie Stoltz. Andover continued its assault on Lowell's net, unable to put a ball past the goalie who simply stood and watched the ball sail wide and high of the net. Finally, with less than five minutes to go, Atkinson took a pass from right wing George Willard just inside the penalty box and sent a low, driving shot into the back of the net to give Andover the 1-0 lead. With just seconds left, senior Mike Mooney controlled a high ball from across the field, brought it to the ground and placed it past the goalie as the whistle blew to end the game. Stoltz recorded the shut-out as Andover advances to the state division quarter finals.

Andover Girls Advance

By Jay Saunders

Wednesday's game against Pentucket closed the Lady Warriors regular season and provided a tune-up for the opening round of the State Tournament. Pentucket was the aggressor in early play, using speed at the forwards to press the attack. Andover's defense refused to yield to the pressure. As the first half closed, the Andover girls began to take charge of the game. Andover dominated second-half action. Senior Kim Heseltine got the first goal as she converted a pass from Jodi Saunders. Forwards Erin Lynch and Shaleen Cassily continued the attack with strong offensive play. Andover closed the 2-0 victory when Saunders took the ball in midfield and caught the defense with a quick outside shot.

Andover faced North Andover in the first round of state play. Demonstrating a new style of play, the Lady Warriors came out hard and fast from the opening whistle. Senior Sharon Petzold set the tone early when she pounced on a ball in front of the net to make it 1-0.

The Andover defense was outstanding in the containment of the Scarlet Knight offense. Krissie Carothers, Beth Howe, Brenna Cronin, Michela Corkery, Mina Sheel, Michele Meli and Andrea Duffy consistently beat their marks to the ball.

Offensively Coach Loschi rotated his forward line, creating unrelenting pressure of the opposition. Leading scorer Cassily got the second goal on a fine individual effort. Sophomores Lisa Berberian and Lynch closed the first half at 3-0 as Berberian finished a Lynch pass.

Andover pressed North Andover in all phases of play in the second half. Senior goalie Karen Del Sarto was immense in goal as she asserted herself demonstrating skill and courage. The Andover halfbacks controlled the flow of the game forcing North Andover to concede the midfield and attempt to play with four forwards. Junior halfback Kerry Fitzpatrick capitalized on the lack of coverage and scored unassisted to make the final 4-0.

Coach Ken Najen's junior varsity closed an outstanding season with a 2-0 victory over Pentucket. Sophomore Julie Mason got the first goal unassisted. Debbie Donovan made it 2-0 on a pass from Tricia Doyle. Eve Derba had an excellent game offensively.

Kevork Majarian, Artisan at Nazarian Jewelers.

Narzarian Jewelers: Jewelry Made by Craftsmen

Nazarian Jewelers has headed in a new direction, much to the pleasure and satisfaction of their customers. Rather than carrying jewelry lines of other manufacturers, Nazarian Jewelers has built a large inventory of jewelry manufactured on the premises.

Steve Nazarian explains the reasons are simple and sound. By making their own jewelry, higher quality merchandise is produced through total control over manufacturing and quality control processes. Hence, better quality at a better price.

Steve estimates that their prices are 10-15% lower than the average store. By making their own jewelry, Nazarian is offering the customer a greater number of choices and are able to meet customers needs and desires.

Nazarian is presently carrying 50-60% inventory of their own creations and expect that within the next few months to increase that figure to 75-80%.

Nazarian takes pride in keeping up with the latest trends, in addition to the critical discernment of their clientele. Therefore, you will find pieces compatible with those found in stores similar to those in Copley Place.

Steve notes that silver continues to be very popular. He attributes this rise in popularity to newer styles which are bigger and bolder, making the choice of silver more appealing in price.

Nazarian's features on-site repairs and diamond resetting. There is a diamond resetter at the Lawrence location and you can have your stone reset while you wait. If you're looking for the finest in gold, diamonds, gems, watches, Waterford Crystal, Lenox China, gifts of silver pewter, brass, Lladro figurines and so much more, come to Nazarian Jewelers at 35 Main St., Andover. AVOID UNDERPRICING

If you want to sell your house fast, underprice it. If this sounds like silly advice - it is. Selling for less than market value will lose you thousands of dollars that could help pay for the cost of relocation and purchase of a new home.

No one would choose to make a sacrifice of this kind. But it can seem necessary when a sudden job transfer compresses the home selling process into too short a time. However, a hasty decision can be avoided if you use the services of a Realtor to show and sell the property in your absence.

If you must move out before the house is sold, the Realtor can use his or her ingenuity and resources to maintain its attractiveness during the selling process. Arrangements can be made to see that the yard as well as the house itself are kept in good condition. If necessary, the Realtor can even arrange for the rental and placement of furnishings to enhance the property.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Ponchartr Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

By Ann Campbell G.R.I.

Schruder Real Estate

"NO DOCUMENTATION" LOANS

Self-employed individuals often have a hard time finding financing when they want to purchase a home. Lenders have traditionally required them to show a track record of earnings in their profession. Their financial qualifications would be based on the average of the past three years of net income, as shown on their tax returns. A recent career change or a tax statement that showed many deductions would often result in greatly limited buying power.

Now there's good news for the self-employed. If you want to buy a home with a down payment of at least 25 to 30 percent, many lenders offer something called the "limited documentation loan". There is no income verification, and you qualify on the basis of a good credit record and evidence of funds to pay your down payment and closing costs. The interest rate may be slightly higher than for a regular ARM or 30-year fixed rate mortgage. In many cases, however, the small increase in monthly payments is worth the substantial boost to buying power.

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Realty USA Schruder Real Estate. Call us at 685-5000 or stop by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover.

The Key to Results in Real Estate

ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

TV Dishes Require Variances

By Lewis C. Howe

Andover residents are required to gain a variance from the Zoning Board of Appeals before installing television satellite dishes, something two of last week's ZBA petitioners claim they didn't know.

Woodworth Chevrolet, 339 North Main St., and Charles Ying of 7 Reservation Road both acquired and installed the high-powered antennas before learning a special permit was needed. The car dealership uses the stationary dish "strictly for business purposes," said William DeLuca, Woodworth General Manager, while Mr. Ying's rotating dish is used for entertainment.

DeLuca apologized to the ZBA for "our ignorance" in installing the antenna. He explained the company uses the dish to receive training and informational programs for its mechanics and salesmen. Board chairman Wes Whitney asked DeLuca if the dish could receive HBO or the Playboy Channel. "No, it can't," quipped the auto dealer, "though employees wish that were so."

Andrew Shea, an attorney representing Charles Ying, said he too was "uncomfortable looking for a permit for something already done." Ying purchased the dish in June, Shea recounted, and was told by the retailer "no local approval was necessary."

This misinformation led to the installation of the antenna at the rear of Ying's property for "pleasure and entertainment uses." The illegal erection of the dish "was not a willing oversight or refusal to obey town laws" said Shea.

Satellite dishes are regulated because many residents object to them as eyesores. Pam Nichols, who abuts Ying's property to the rear, said the antenna "detracts from the neighborhood's visual impact." She added "we could screen the view of it from our side, but it's not our responsibility."

Shea acknowledged the dish can be readily seen from Reservation Road and from neighboring properties, but said the antenna "is not unreasonably detrimental to the neighborhood or the town." Ying, he added, is willing to do whatever is deemed necessary by the board to "landscape and screen the dish from view."

Dr. Michael Roberts, 10 Reservation Road, said he personally finds the dishes "unattractive," and commented "I'd rather not see them in residential areas of Andover."

Ying's antenna, he continued, is visible "from my yard and from the road, and while I don't object to people having these things, they ought to be able to hide them from the view of the neighbors."

Roberts said a relocation of the dish to a less conspicuous area would be palatable to him. "As it is located now, it is not proper in this kind of neighborhood."

Shea disagreed, saying the antenna is "inocuous." The dish "doesn't flash at you, it's not that kind of visual impact," he contended.

At this point, ZBA member Roger Collins remarked "there should be an ordinance to get some parameters" on proper installation of satellite dish antennas. Whitney stated the ZBA only focuses on "aesthetic issues" when granting dish permits.

Whitney noted an Oriole Drive resident sued the town over a decision against him, arguing he has the right to own a dish under the first amendment clause of free flow of information. The case is pending in a superior court.

Also last Thursday, the board recognized former ZBA members Lori Comeau and Elaine Katz for their years of service. Before presenting certificates to the honorees, Whitney remarked "serving on the board of appeals is not a frolic," as it requires "hours of deliberations, site viewings, and writing decisions" that often result in disagreements and "independent thought."

But through it all, Whitney added, "there is a great sense of camaraderie and purpose" among ZBA members, which, he quipped, stems from "all those 8 a.m. Saturday morning sessions."

The Art Of Eating Out

Dining out, once reserved for special occasions, has now become a popular American experience.

Whether it be for a snack, sandwich or complete meal, visits to fine restaurants in our area offer a relaxing change for families, an opportunity for a change of pace, a chance to discuss business, or for some, a social gathering among friends.

And special occasions are still made even more special when celebrated in the atmosphere of fine dining experience.

Here in this special TOWNSMAN dining out section are several of the area's finest dining locations, offering the right atmosphere and the right menu for any occasion.

Tipping started in the Middle Ages and continued through the 18th century in England where it became customary to leave coins in a box at the entrance to a restaurant. The box was labeled, "To Insure Prompt Service." Later it was abbreviated to read, "TIPS."

Kingston 1686 House Gains Worldwide Recognition

By winning The Wine Spectator magazine's coveted award of excellence, the locally popular Kingston 1686 House has just achieved international recognition.

Honored for having "one of the outstanding restaurant wine lists in the world," the 300-year-old Kingston House is also well-known for its dining excellence and enchanting atmosphere.

Flickering candlelight, crackling fireplaces, elegant table settings, classical background music, handcrafted crewl pieces and a staff in period costume combine with the authentic architectural features of this historic house on the Kingston, N.H. common, creating a warm, inviting setting in which to relax and enjoy the Kingston 1686 House's superb food and wines.

At this Mobil rated three star restaurant, all dinners are meticulously prepared to order from only the finest, freshest and purest ingredients.

Prime-graded meats and fresh seafood highlight a varied menu that includes such specialties as live lobster, rack of lamb, plume de veau veal dishes, baked stuffed fresh haddock, chateaubriand, roast Long Island duckling and baked stuffed el presidenti jumbo shrimp.

To complement their menu selections, diners may choose from more than 500 different wines, many of which are available by the glass. This extraordinary, award-winning wine list represents the achievement of more than 14 years of effort by owner Peter Speliotis.

Other special features of the Kingston House menu include the abundance of tempting extras graciously served with all dinners and delicious homemade desserts with pure, freshly whipped cream.

Bel Canto Opens In Town

A new restaurant has arrived in Andover.

Daman Enterprises Inc.'s executive officers recently announced the opening of the company's fifth restaurant. A 110-seat location, Andover is the first addition to the restaurant group since the opening of a Wellesley branch in May, 1984.

Located at 10 Main St., Bel Canto occupies the second floor and third floor mezzanine of the newly-renovated Barnard Building. The company currently operates Bel Canto restaurants in Beacon Hill, Cambridge and Lexington, along with the Wellesley and Andover locations.

Bel Canto co-founders Henry Patterson and Elizabeth Carney introduced deep-dish pizza—called torta—to the Boston market in 1976 at the original 12-seat Cambridge location. Since then the menu has expanded to include a variety of calzones and specialty salads, as well as appetizers, desserts and a contemporary selection of wines and beers. Bel Canto has retained its commitment to quality food at reasonable prices, complemented by a pleasant dining experience.

The Andover Bel Canto is managed by Madelaine Starr, former manager of the Wellesley restaurant. Her experience overseeing that restaurant's growth from its inception until late 1986 make her an excellent choice for the management of the new location.

Continuing in the Bel Canto tradition, the Andover restaurant offers a menu specializing in trademark tortas, calzone and salads. The company plans to continue its policy of providing excellent food, superior service and a pleasant dining experience, all at a reasonable price. The intent is to provide Bel Canto food in expanded markets, simultaneously maintaining quality and a family approach to service.

The Andover Bel Canto is open seven days a week: Monday through Wednesday, 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Thursday through Saturday, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.; and Sunday, noon to 10 p.m.

Understanding Petit Chablis

By Terry Robards

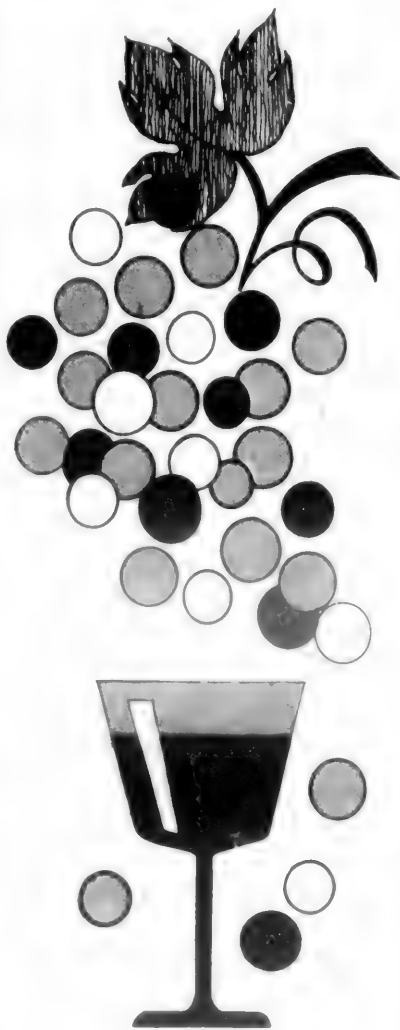

The menu, extracted from a heap of memorabilia, was from the Savoy Hotel in London, with its crest centered in red at the top. It offered several choices, including a lobster mousse and lamb chops, plus two recommendations for wine. Intended to accompany the lamb chops was a Chateau Mouton Baron Philippe 1967, a Bordeaux of good character. But the first was more interesting: a Petit Chablis 1970, intended to complement the lobster mousse.

It turned out to be a luscious wine, fruity yet dry, with the characteristic earthiness of the Chablis area, a flavor that is readily identifiable and that bears no similarity to the wines made in other countries that borrow the chablis name.

Not since that day have I encountered a Petit Chablis on any restaurant's wine list, nor have I seen one in a store in a number of years. Has Petit Chablis disappeared as a French appellation? Do consumers no longer have the option to order the least expensive genuine Chablis from France?

The questions intrigued me, for my acquaintance with the wines of Chablis, the northernmost outpost of the French Burgundy district, had begun with Petit Chablis, mainly because it was the least costly of the genuine Chablis.

Lee Kreul, a professor at Purdue University's School of Consumer and Family Sciences, says dining out can be significantly cheaper than preparing and eating the same meal at home.

Service Top Consideration

Area restaurants joined the National Restaurant Association and allied industry trade groups in a nationwide drive to heighten pride in service throughout the giant $45 billion food service industry.

"Under the banner of 'We're Proud to Serve You!'" area food service and lodging businesses are seeking to rekindle new enthusiasm for an old-fashioned concept—pride in service.

"The area," says a representative of the National Restaurant Association (NRA), "is to get hundreds of thousands of restaurant employees involved in a program that builds pride in accomplishment."

"We're Proud to Serve You!" offers a plan to improve service performance and morale together with a program to merchandise this effort in ways that capture the public's attention.

A wide array of promotional materials, including campaign buttons, posters, floor mats, counter cards and customer giveaway items will begin appearing soon in area restaurants, according to the NRA.

"Pride in service is a positive value that can be shared by both employee and customer at no additional cost to either. It follows that if food service employees take pride in what they do it will translate directly to restaurant customers in the form of more courteous and conscientious service," the NRA representative said.

The NRA further described the drive as "a positive, purposeful program that will help the industry win new friends. It represent a novel, fun approach to a situation that restaurant customers consider important when dining away from home."

Surveys show that when service falters in a restaurant, the quality of the total dining experience is diminished in the eyes of the consumer.

Chablis

Moreover, it was usually good value for it displayed the steely or flinty dryness typical of Chablis even if it lacked the depth and richness of others of the name.

To understand what Petit Chablis is requires a comprehension of the hierarchy of the Chablis district. The greatest are the so-called grands crus, or great growths, the wines from individual vineyards whose names appear on labels, for example, Les Clos or Grenouilles.

Then there are the premiers crus, or first growths, also with named vineyards such as Montee de Tonnerre or Vaillon. Then there is the general category called, simply, Chablis, very good wine but not quite as full of character as the grands or premiers crus.

At the lower end of the hierarchy is Petit Chablis, so named no doubt because the least favorably situated vineyards produce it. Nevertheless, it was genuine Chablis and a favorite of budget-conscious consumers because it always cost a dollar or two a bottle less than regular Chablis.

Abdallah H. Simon, president of the chateau and estate wines division of Seagram, explained that "the availability has been reduced because there has been resistance to the appellation."

Here are some facts about eating out from the National Restaurant Association:

- The average person eats out 3.5 times a week.
- The average per-person check is $3.50.
- Lunch is the meal most likely to be eaten out.
- Men eat away from home more frequently than women.
- Singles eat out more often than families.
- As income increases, consumers eat away from home more frequently.
- Seventy-eight percent of all families report eating at restaurants regularly.

Restaurant Industry Is Rich In History

The history of public eating services is probably as ancient as the Old Testament, which frequently refers to inns.

"Restaurant" has its origin in the latin root word, "restaurare" which means "to restore." In the 16th century, this Latin root word was applied to a spicy broth and called a "restorative beverage." Later it was applied to other "restorative" foods, especially gravy, soups, bouillions, and similar preparations.

The honor for creating the first "businessmen's lunch" apparently belongs to a chap named Segius Locates, a Roman innkeeper in 50 B.C. He devised the feature for ship brokers who were too busy to go home.

Some authorities claim that the "medieval" history of the restaurant industry began during the French Revolution in 1789, when hiding aristocrats were fed in secret by their servants. These rendezvous became known to other aristocrats who were willing to pay a small charge for well-cooked meals.

In ancient times, there were places for public eating roughly similar to our restaurants. When people began making their homes in one place and occasionally traveling away from home, distinguishing them from nomads who had no real homes, they needed a place to eat and sleep enroute. Thus early restaurants were usually in conjunction with sleeping accommodations.

Inns, hotels and monasteries of Europe served this function up to the 17th century. Chaucer's Canterbury pilgrims used to gather prior to their journeys to the shrine of St. Thomas A. Becket to dine and revel. They also held inners there after they returned, at which time the best teller of stories during the pilgrimage was rewarded with a free meal and feted. This was the idea of the inn host, Barry Baileu, who went along on the trip to judge the best tales.

In England, commoners had patronized eating places called "ordinary" as far back as 1577. These were taverns which served only at specified mealtimes, usually between one and four o'clock.

A noted ordinary frequented by literary figures in the 17th century was the Castle Ordinary. It burned down in 1666 and was rebuilt as Dolly's Chop House. The latter gained reknown when "Dolly" introduced pretty serving aides instead of waiters. Dolly's Chop House was famed for choice of beefsteaks and ales, Fielding, Defoe, Swift, Dryden, Pope, Gainsborough and Handel were steady customers of this Chop House.

The first public eating place to be designated as a restaurant was opened in Paris. It was called LeChamp d'Oiseau and its proprietor was a gentleman called Boulanger. Over the doorway was a Latin inscription: Venite and me omnes que stomacho laboratis et ego restaurabo vos — "Come to me all whose stomachs cry out in anguish and I shall restore you."

Lin Garden Makes Szechuan Cuisine The Authentic Way

The Lin Garden Restaurant, 511 Merrimack St. (Route 110) in Dracut, is one of the two restaurants located in the Merrimack Valley that offers a fine selection of authentic Szechuan cuisine that can be enjoyed while overlooking a beautiful view of the Merrimack River.

The restaurant also offers Mandarin and Polynesian cuisine. Fresh vegetables, fish and meat are used for the wide selection of dishes. Freshness and the art of preparation speak for themselves. No dish is altered with the addition of monosodium glutamate.

Owner Andy Chung said he believes dining should be a sharing experience. "We like to educate people about the special qualities of our food," Chung said. "Szechuan and Mandarin cooking is a different experience than the usual Chinese restaurant. The food is prepared and served in a totally different way."

The food is placed in separate dishes in the center of the table, so diners may share different dishes throughout the meal. Courses are pre-cut which eliminates a lot of knife work. Szechuan and Mandarin cuisine is a sharing and joyful dining experience.

A good introduction to this type of Chinese food is Lin Garden's reasonable lunch specials, which are served from 11:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

"These give us a chance to show the variety of food and to educate new diners about this type of Chinese cuisine," Chung said. "You can order the non-spicy Mandarin dishes or the spicy Szechuan, prepared with fresh garlic and ginger. You can request your service people to ask for your food to be very spicy or mild."

Restaurant Promises Good Food, Elegant Atmosphere

*"The woods are lovely, dark and deep.
But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep,
And miles to go before I sleep."*

A line from the familiar verse of Robert Frost's "Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening" provides the name of the area's most elegant dining facility, Promises To Keep, one miles outh of the Robert Frost homestead on Route 28 in Derry, N.H.

Promises To Keep is a very striking building with a glass-roofed dining room, cathedral ceilings and window walls. Dinners are served on fine English china, and flatware is imported from Holland. Full linen and fresh-cut flowers finish a truly elegant table setting. Service is formal, yet friendly, from tuxedo-type attired servers.

The cuisine at Promises To Keep is American and continental. Baked haddock and broiled steaks are available, along with more adventurous entrees, like veal a l'oscar, duck a l'orange, blackened rd fish and beef wellington. All items are skillfully prepared by owner/chef John Oudheusden, former owner/chef of the Andover Inn.

Dutch chef Oudheusden prepares a traditional Indonesian rijst-tafel, which is offered on Monday evenings only.

A delightful dining experience can be complemented with a selection from the pastry tray, filled with tempting delicacies prepared by the full-time pastry chef.

Promises To Keep also boasts an elegant function facility that can accommodate parties from 10 to 200. The beautiful chandelied ceilings make the rooms suitable for weddings, anniversary parties, business meetings and other functions. The restaurant/function facility was the idea of Oudheusden and his business partner and general manager, David Kolifrath. Their idea was to bring a restaurant that could provide a truly elegant dining experience into the quiet and beauty of the southern New Hampshire countryside.

Many of their peers considered the move risky, but less than three years later, the two owners have proven their idea was sound. Since the popular restaurant has been a tremendous success, the owners say, it is obvious the area was ready for a restaurant of this quality.

Reservations are always suggested, and gentlemen's jackets are required during dinner hours, which are from 5:30 p.m. daily, except Sundays, when dinner is served from 4 p.m. Most major credit cards are accepted.

Dining Out On A Diet

Your favorite restaurant with its luxurious decor, a solicitous maitre'd, a chef famous for pound-producing sauces and congenial dinner companions need not crumble the determination of the most dedicated dieter, according to Elaine Robin, director of a weight-watching group in Eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

"Special events," Robin noted, "provide a good opportunity to demonstrate that even the weight-conscious diner can enjoy eating out, provided he or she fellows certain guidelines to avoid eating traps."

Some of her "dining out" guidelines are as follows:

1. Choose steak houses or seafood restaurants whenever possible.

If you go to another kind of restaurant you can always order meat, poultry, or fish broiled and ask that your vegetables be prepared without butter.

2. Don't pore over the menu.

If you are on a weight reduction program, you know what you can have.

Ask for it.

Be cordial to the maitre'd and send your compliments to the chef for helping you stay on your diet.

3. Order a salad or coffee immediately.

Move the basket of rolls to the other side of the table.

If you have something to eat that meets your diet requirements, and if you are not confronted with the temptation to nibble, you will find it much easier to follow your food program.

4. Be the first one in your party to order.

This avoids the "me, too" syndrome and keeps you away from a major trap.

Lin Garden offers General Gau's chicken, a popular dish in the Boston area, which is chicken coated with water chestnuts, flour and eggs, deep fried until crispy then dry cooked with hot ginger sauce.

A variety of fish dishes, Chinese style lobster and shrimp is served. Lin Garden also serves "a vegetarian's delight," a mixture of Chinese style spinach and vegetables.
